

All You Need to Save, Share & Store Your Info: The XPO. Coming Jan '08.

Ever been out on vacation wishing there was some way to create more space on your digital camera or digital video camera? Have you ever suddenly caught a monumental happening, like either your baby's first steps, the perfect sunset, or even one of the funniest moments of your life, but you grab your digital camera to find that its full- no space left? What about when you're at school, on a business trip, or at a family reunion and there are important items you would like off a co-worker's, friend's, or family member's PDA, iPod or Flash Drive, but there's no computer nearby? You wonder if there's any way at all to save, share and store your valuable documents, pictures, videos and music without the use of a computer. Well there is now! The GoldX XPO, is all you will ever need to transfer Gigabytes of information from one device to another, and store or transfer info to your computer, at your convenience. Once you save your info on the XPO, you free your devices and allow for more music to be saved, more pictures taken, more videos to be taken, and more documents to collect. The Xternal Portable Office allows you to safely carry Gigabytes of information in your pocket! It is the solution to all your problems! Just connect the XPO to any device and you're only a couple clicks away from transferring new info! (See the diagram to the right for more information)

It appears to me that GoldX products have the quality that I really want ... I do believe that your products are top notch ... I am very thankful to you for your kindness and clear professionalism. There are not too many good folks like you in this world. At least, we need many more.

JDI at CES in Vegas, Jan 7-10 '08

This January, JDI Technologies will be at the International Consumer Electronics Show (CES) featuring a variety of products, from Networking to Audio cables. CES is promoted by Consumer Electronics Association (CEA), which plays a major part in the growth of the consumer technology industry. CEA has over 2,100 corporate members contributing to the design, development, manufacturing, distribution and integration of consumer electronics products.

Profits from CES aid in funding industry services, including technical training and education, engineering standards development, industry promotion, market research and legislative advocacy.

"With more than four decades of success, the International CES reaches across global markets, connects the industry and enables CE innovations to grow and thrive." stated on CES' website. Visit www.cesweb.org for more info!

Our Mission Statement

Jo-Dan International, Inc. (JDI) was founded on the belief that relationships are the key to success. We will succeed only if our customers accomplish their financial growth and product quality objectives. Accordingly, our mission is to provide superior, low cost products to our customers through quality design, manufacturing, and distribution.

The History of JDI Technologies

JDI was founded in 1984 as an importer of computer cable and connectivity products, including serial and parallel cables, cables for printers, keyboard, and mice, video cables, and switch boxes for Apple and PC computers. Through the years, JDI's product line has expanded to include new PC and connectivity products, including networking cables, USB products, FireWire products and RF technology. Today JDI offers its customers a comprehensive line of computer connectivity and peripheral products with its CEO owned factories in China and Thailand.
